Cuban Missile Crisis Lesson Plan

Central Historical Question:
Why did the Russians pull their missiles out of Cuba?

Materials:
  http://player.discoveryeducation.com/index.cfm?guidAssetId=29DCDDD5-57CA-4660-96AC-E34EBCEEA4E5&blnFromSearch=1&productcode=US
- Cuban Missile Crisis Documents A-C
- Cuban Missile Crisis Guiding Questions
- Classroom Textbook Excerpt on Cuban Missile Crisis

SPOILER ALERT: DON’T MENTION U.S. MISSILES IN TURKEY. THE WHOLE POINT OF THE LESSON IS FOR STUDENTS TO DISCOVER THAT THE REMOVAL OF THOSE MISSILES WAS PART OF THE DEAL.

Plan of Instruction:

1. Introduction: Review what students have already learned about the Cold War and explain that it continued for decades.

   In 1959, Cuba became a Communist country, led by Fidel Castro. This development brought the Cold War close to home because Cuba is 90 miles off the coast of Florida (you might want to point this out on a map).

   John F. Kennedy was elected president in 1960 and oversaw two major events that involved Cuba: 1) the Bay of Pigs invasion; 2) the Cuban Missile Crisis.

2. Play United Streaming Video Segment: The “Hour of Maximum Danger”-
   http://player.discoveryeducation.com/index.cfm?guidAssetId=29DCDDD5-57CA-4660-96AC-E34EBCEEA4E5&blnFromSearch=1&productcode=US

   Have students answer the following questions:

   • According to the video, why did the Russians pull the missiles out of Cuba?
   • What do you think they mean by “delicate, behind-the-scenes negotiations?”

   Today we’re going to look at some of those “delicate” negotiations.
3. Hand out Cuban Missile Crisis Documents A-C and Guiding Questions. Students should answer the questions in pairs.

4. Debrief:
   • According to these documents, what deal did the U.S. strike with the U.S.S.R.?
   • Why was this deal kept secret?
   • Is this deal mentioned in the classroom textbook?
   • Why might the textbook not have mentioned this deal?
   • Who seems more scared or on the defensive in this documents?
   • What does this event show you about how people felt during the Cold War?

Citations:

http://www.gwu.edu/~nsarchiv/nsa/cuba_mis_cri/moment.htm

© Copyright 2009, Avishag Reisman and Bradley Fogo.
Document A: Letter From Chairman Khrushchev to President Kennedy (Modified)

Moscow, October 27, 1962.

DEAR MR. PRESIDENT,

I understand your concern for the security of the United States…

You wish to ensure the security of your country, and this is understandable. But Cuba, too, wants the same thing; all countries want to maintain their security. But how are we, the Soviet Union, to [understand] the fact that you have surrounded the Soviet Union with military bases; surrounded our allies with military bases; placed military bases literally around our country; and stationed your missile armaments there? This is no secret... Your missiles are located in Britain, and are aimed against us. Your missiles are located in Turkey.

You are disturbed over Cuba. You say that this disturbs you because it is 90 miles by sea from the coast of the United States of America. But you have placed destructive missile weapons, which you call offensive, in Turkey, literally next to us.

I therefore make this proposal: We are willing to remove from Cuba the [missiles] which you regard as offensive. Your representatives will make a declaration to the effect that the United States, for its part, will remove its [missiles] from Turkey.

We, in making this pledge, will promise not to invade Turkey... The United States Government will promise not to invade Cuba...

The greatest joy for all peoples would be the announcement of our agreement.

These are my proposals, Mr. President.

Respectfully yours,

N. Khrushchev

Source: Letter from Soviet Chairman Kruschev to President Kennedy. U.S., Department of State, FOREIGN RELATIONS OF THE UNITED STATES, 1961-1963, Volume XI, Cuban Missile Crisis and Aftermath.
Document B: Letter from President Kennedy to Chairman Khrushchev (Modified)

Washington, October 27, 1962

Dear Mr. Chairman:

I have read your letter of Oct. 26th with great care and welcomed the statement of your desire to seek a prompt solution to the problem. As I read your letter, the key elements of your proposals…are as follows:

1) You would agree to remove these weapons from Cuba under appropriate United Nations observation and supervision; and halt the further introduction of such weapons systems into Cuba.
2) We, on our part, would agree…a) to remove promptly the [blockade] now in effect and (b) to give assurances against an invasion of Cuba, I am confident that other nations of the Western Hemisphere would be prepared to do likewise.

There is no reason why we should not be able to complete these arrangements and announce them to the world within a couple of days. The effect of such a settlement on easing world tensions would enable us to work toward a more general arrangement regarding "other armaments", as proposed in your letter.

But the first step, let me emphasize, is the cessation (end) of work on missile sites in Cuba . . . . The continuation of this threat by linking these problems to the broader questions of European and world security, would surely [be] a grave risk to the peace of the world. For this reason I hope we can quickly agree along the lines outlined in this letter and in your letter of October 26.

John F. Kennedy

Document C: Russian Ambassador Cable to Soviet Foreign Ministry (Modified)

Dobrynin’s (Russia’s Ambassador to the United States) cable to the Soviet Foreign Ministry, October 27, 1962.

Late tonight Robert Kennedy (President Kennedy’s Attorney General) invited me to come see him. We talked alone.

Kennedy stated that, “The US government is determined to get rid of those bases [in Cuba]—up to, in the extreme case, of bombing them, since, I repeat, they pose a great threat to the security of the USA. In response I am sure the Soviets will respond and a real war will begin, in which millions of Americans and Russians will die. We want to avoid that in any way we can, I’m sure that the government of the USSR has the same wish.”

“The most important thing for us is to get an agreement as soon as possible with the Soviet government to halt further work on the construction of the missile bases in Cuba and take measures under international control that would make it impossible to use these weapons.”

“And what about Turkey?” I asked R. Kennedy

“If that is the only obstacle to achieving the rules I mentioned earlier, then the president doesn’t see any difficulties in resolving this issue” replied R. Kennedy. “The greatest difficulty for the president is the public discussion of the issue of Turkey. The deployment of missile bases in Turkey was officially done by special decision of the NATO Council. To announce now a unilateral (one-sided) decision by the president of the USA to withdraw missile bases from Turkey—this would damage the entire structure of NATO and the US position as the leader of NATO. However, President Kennedy is ready to come to agreement on that question with Khrushchev. I think that in order to withdraw these bases from Turkey we need 4-5 months. However, the president can’t say anything public in this regard about Turkey.”

R. Kennedy then warned that his comments about Turkey are extremely confidential; besides him and his brother, only 2-3 people know about it in Washington.

“The president also asked Khrushchev to give him an answer within the next day,” Kennedy said in conclusion.

Guiding Questions

Document A: Letter From Chairman Khrushchev to President Kennedy

1. What deal does Khrushchev propose to Kennedy?

2. What is the tone of this letter? Provide a quote to support your claim.

3. Do you think Khrushchev has the upper hand? Why or why not?

Document B: Letter from President Kennedy to Chairman Khrushchev

4. In this letter Kennedy restates Khrushchev’s proposals. Does Kennedy include everything Khrushchev proposed? If not, why might have he left something out?

5. What is the tone of this letter? Provide a quote to support your claim.

6. Do you think Kennedy has the upper hand? Why or why not?

Document C: Russian Ambassador Cable to Soviet Foreign Ministry

7. What new information do you learn from Robert Kennedy?

8. Why do you think this exchange happened in a private meeting (rather than in an official letter)? [Remember, Document B was published in the New York Times].